

Cellar doors

- AROUND TOOWOOMBA -

We love a good glass of wine, so it won't surprise you to learn that we have an amazing selection of cellar doors. Ranging from full restaurant experiences to not much more than a roadside stand, this is our favourite way to meet the makers behind our favourite drops. The Queensland wine industry is changing, and these producers are leading the way.

BUNNYCONNELLEN

Do a tasting of the range, pick up some bottles to go, or buy by the glass and enjoy out in the olive groves. The Bunnyconnellen wines are not produced on the property (which is actually an olive grove), but are sourced from vineyards in the region, which means you have the best from each vineyard.

PRESTON PEAK

The wines here are from the Devil's Elbow vineyard at Wyberba in the Granite Belt. Expect alternative varieties such as Petit Verdot, Mataro and Sagrantino. The view is breathtaking, so plan to make a trip of it. You should definitely order the cheese platter to enjoy while you take in the scenery.

ROSALIE HOUSE

The cellar door restaurant is open for breakfast, lunch and dinner over the weekend, and includes everything from nibbles to a perfectly cooked Darling Downs wagyu. There's a really strong emphasis on local produce here, so make sure you pay attention to the menu; it's full of local gems. There's almost always live music as the sun sets; you'll very quickly see why it's so popular.

2ND 2 NONE

Based in Kingsthorpe, 2nd 2 None wines are definitely quirky! There's a range that's infused with botanicals such as ginger (with names like IQ, Gee Spot, Buddy), a low-alcohol range and a fortified range (including the award-winning PJs & Slippers). For those who don't like to take their wine too seriously, 2nd 2 None is refreshingly fun.

HOLLAND WINES

This humble winery can be found at the Toowoomba Farmers Markets most Saturday mornings, but also has a cellar door in Crows Nest that is open to the public. The Crows Nest Shiraz is an easy-drinking medium-bodied red, while the Callum Chardonnay is unwooded and easy drinking. The cellar door also has the southern hemisphere's largest collection of vintage biscuit tins, if that's your thing!

BETWEEN TWO ROCKS

The family-run Between Two Rocks cellar door offers handcrafted pizzas and platters to enjoy as you relax with family and friends. All their wines are vegan-friendly and made with minimal preservatives and sulphites. Ensure you call ahead, as they are often closed for private functions, but if you happen to arrive on a day with live music, you may never leave.
